Property Description

This charming semi-detached chalet presents a fantastic opportunity for family use, rental investment, or as a renovation project with enormous potential. Perfectly habitable in its current condition, the property has long been established as a welcoming alpine farmhouse and has successfully operated in the past as both a catered and self-catered holiday business – a tradition that could easily be continued given its size and location.

In total, the chalet offers 8 double bedrooms, cleverly divided between the main chalet and an independent apartment. The main chalet comprises 6 bedrooms, two of which benefit from additional mezzanine areas that are ideal for children or extra guest accommodation. The comfortable self-contained apartment provides a further 2 double bedrooms, offering excellent flexibility for owner's use, staff, or rental guests.

The living areas are cosy and characterful, reflecting the building's farmhouse origins, and the layout lends itself well to hosting large groups or families. With some creative updating, the property has the scope to become an outstanding alpine chalet while continuing to provide income potential through holiday rentals.

This is a rare chance to acquire a large and versatile property at an attractive price point in a sought-after area. Whether you wish to enjoy this chalet as a generous family home, develop a renovation project, or run it as a business, La Morzenettaz offers the space, character, and location to make your project a truly exciting opportunity!
